

Welcome to CACHE Alumni, your home for Professional Development and Networking within the CACHE sector! Because we're always evolving and adding new resources and features, sometimes you may find that you need to follow this, slightly adapted, login process to gain access to the exclusive membership area of the site.

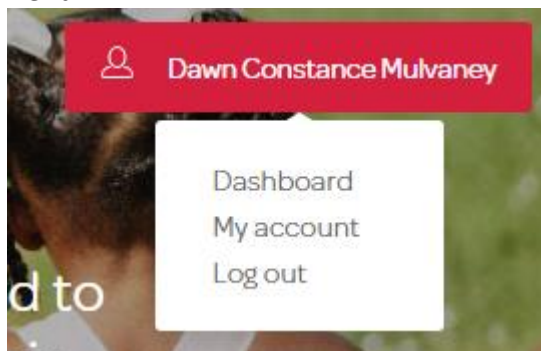

If, after entering your login details, you see this screen, please don't worry! This is because you have successfully logged in, but something in the way that the site works means you've been directed to a holding page. Please imagine that this is warm, friendly and welcoming (we're working on it!) then click on the white box at the bottom that says 'Go to homepage'

You should now see the homepage again, but instead of seeing 'log in' in the top right hand corner, you'll see your username / name. Mobile users should see a 'person' symbol under the CACHE Alumni logo, like this;

Click onto your name (or the person symbol) and then 'Dashboard' from the drop down menu.

You should be taken straight to the dashboard, ready to start your CACHE Alumni experience properly. 😊

Welcome to our network!
